

Future Directions for GOG-Partners

Bradley J. Monk, MD, FACS, FACOG

Arizona Oncology (US Oncology Network), Phoenix, USA

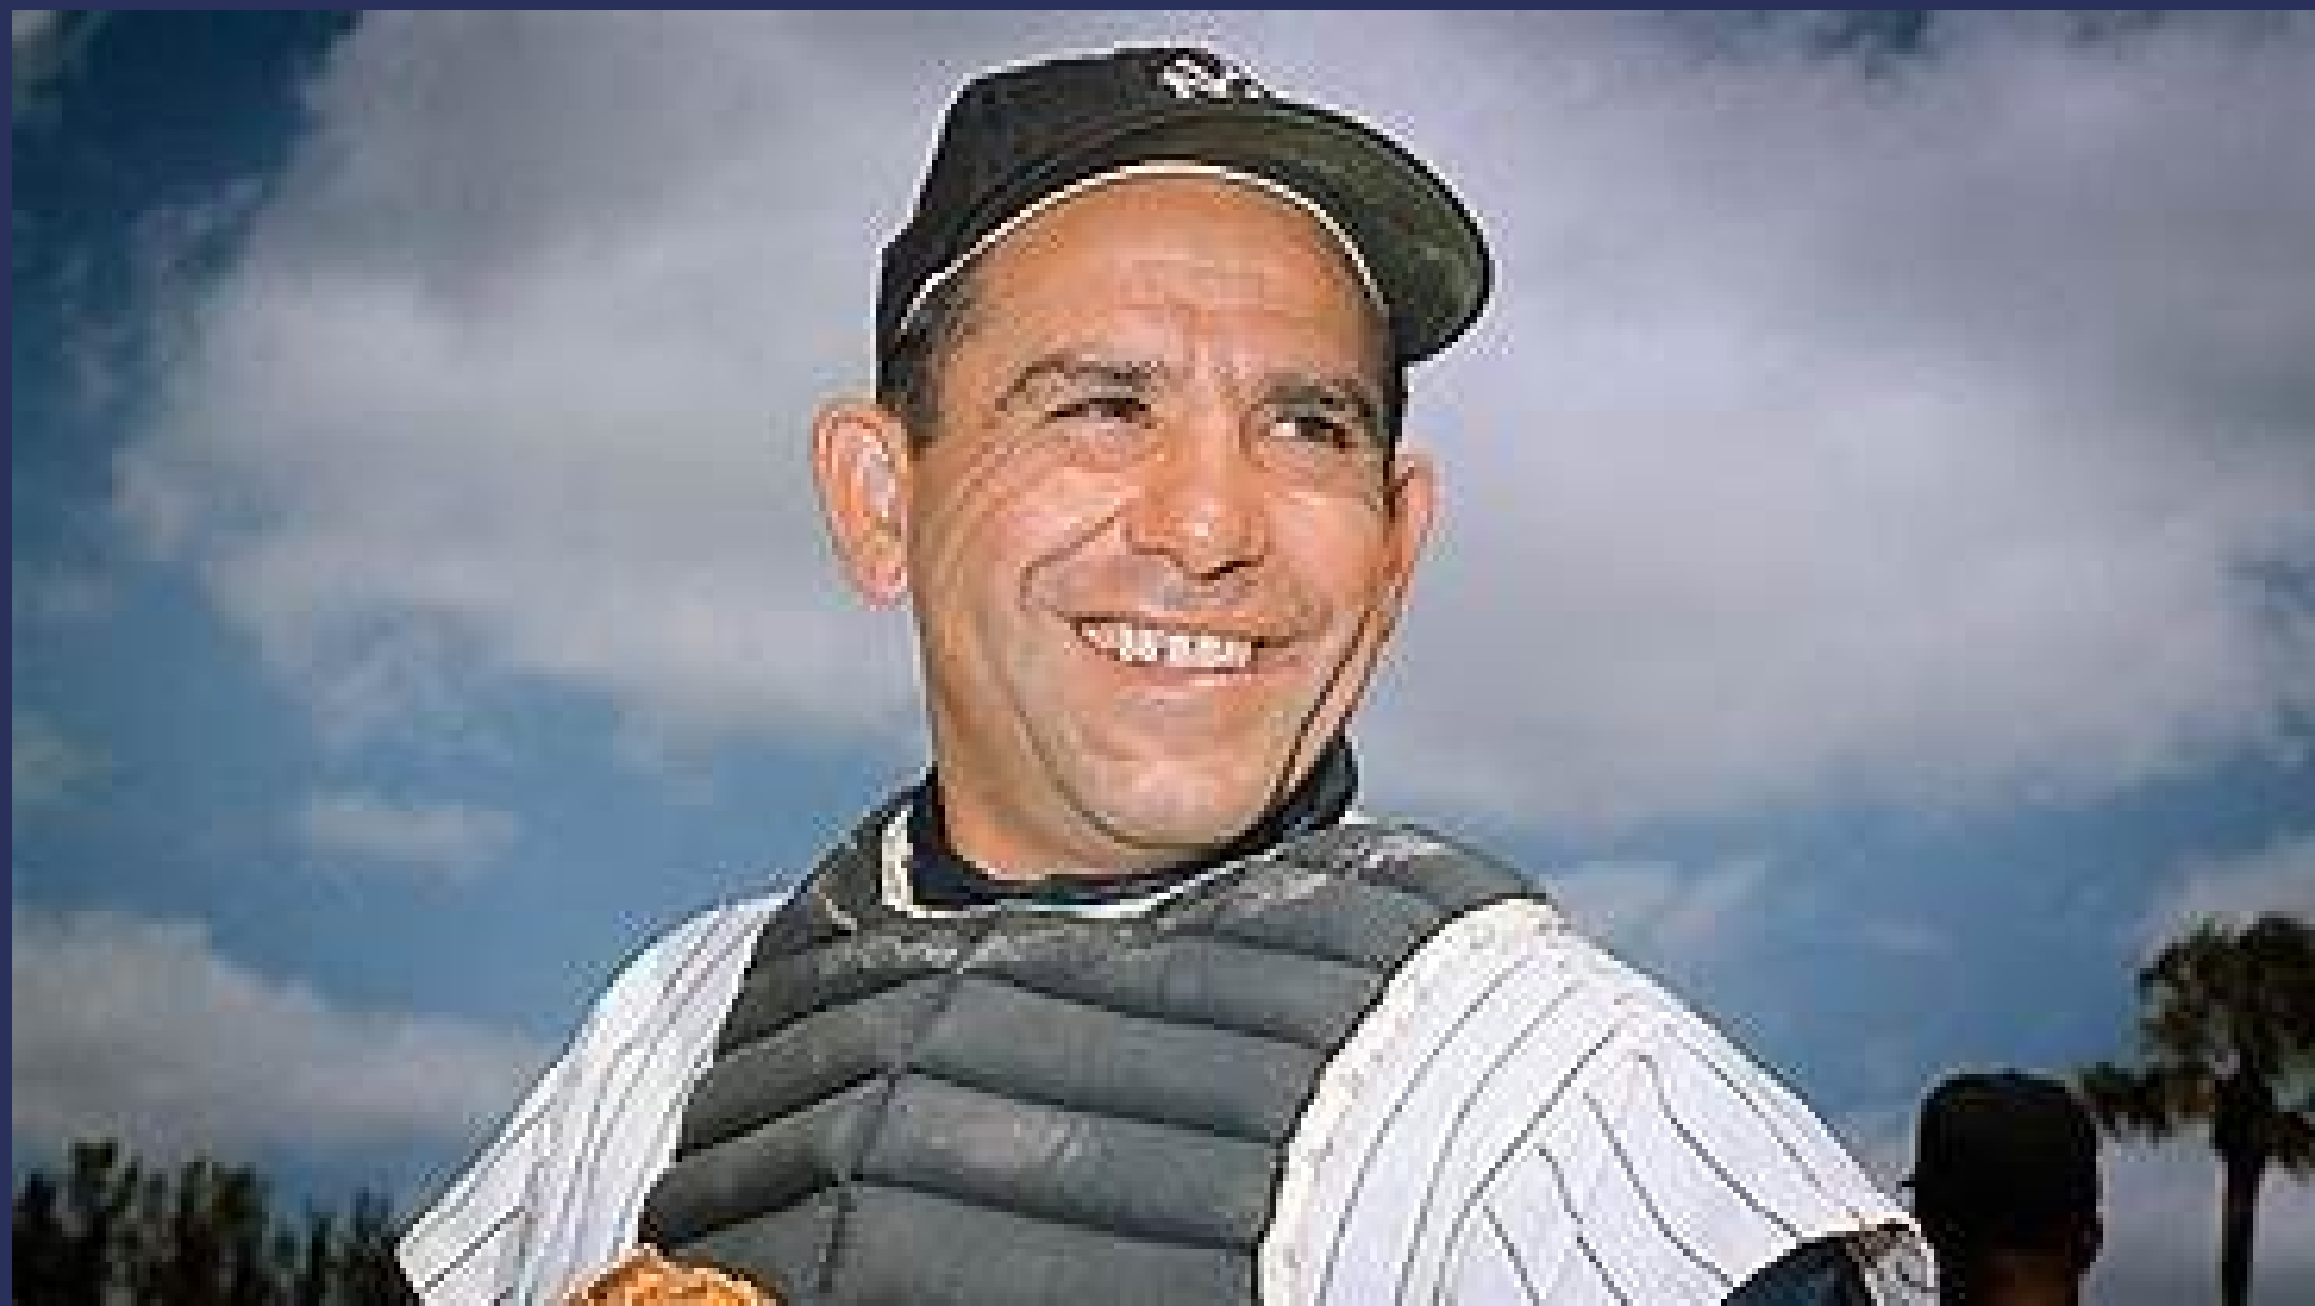

Professor and Director
Creighton University School of Medicine
University of Arizona College of Medicine

Medical Director Gynecologic Oncology Research at US Oncology Network

Co-Director GOG-Partners

bradley.monk@usoncology.com

"Yogi" Berra

Career highlights and awards

- 18× All-Star (1948–1961², 1962²)
- 13× World Series champion (1947, 1949–1953, 1956, 1958, 1961, 1962, 1969, 1977, 1978)
- 3× AL MVP (1951, 1954, 1955)
- New York Yankees No. 8 retired
- Monument Park honoree
- Major League Baseball All-Century Team

"Yogi" Berra

- “The future ain't what it used to be”
- “If you don't know where you are going, you might wind up someplace else”
- “When you come to a fork in the road, take it”

Key Opportunities in Making GOG-P More Impactful

- 1. Increasing our diversity and inclusivity (Investigator Council, mentorship)
- 2. Improving our site management capability and capacity (contracting, informatics)
- 3. Expanding our statistical and data center
- 4. Increasing translational science (biobanking)
- 5. Launching an investigator initiated trial initiative
- 6. Enhancing educational opportunities (Symposia)
- 7. Creating a philanthropic home

Creighton University School of Medicine

*Patient Care
Teaching
Research*

THANK YOU

bradley.monk@usoncology.com

CONFIDENTIAL

